

THE PHYSICAL EDUCATION PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SERIES...

For those physical educators who want to be at the forefront of designing and delivering standards-based instruction.

A sequential, research based, professional development program that provides physical education teachers with the skills, knowledge, and confidence to implement standards-based physical education instruction in their schools and school districts. The series includes instruction, guided practice, and feedback on your individual work in each of the following: revealing the content in the standards, determining the nature of evidence of student learning, designing and selecting assessment tools, designing effective instruction, and analyzing data and building systems to support student learning K-12.

Available for physical educators at your school district or in programs designed for individual teachers or small groups of teachers to move through the series on their own.

Level I Introduction to the California physical education content standards and standards-based instruction. Learn how to reveal all the content in the standards and begin the process of focusing teachers, students, parents, and leaders on the content that each student needs to learn.

Level II The relationship between the standards and assessment of student learning is the topic for Level II. Learn about assessment, assessment tools and the nature of the evidence of student learning. Discover the many benefits of assessing student learning.

Level III Design and/or select assessment tools that will accurately collect the evidence that your students have learned the content in the standards. Examine existing assessment tools and evaluate their effectiveness in enhancing student learning and providing teachers with evidence of that learning.

Level IV Design instruction and develop the learning sequences that enable your students to learn all the content in the standards. We'll look at the instructional decisions teachers make and how we can use those opportunities best address the learning of our students.

The California Physical Education Professional Development Series

Who dares to teach must never cease to learn.

~John Cotton Dana

Most teachers have little control over school policy or curriculum or choice of texts or special placement of students, but most have a great deal of autonomy inside their classroom. To a degree shared by only a few other occupations, public education rests precariously on the skill and virtue of the people at the bottom of the institutional pyramid.

~Tracy Kidder
